Homemaker's

Home Accessories - Pictures. During the month of October, home demonstration clubs in the county will be discussing accessories and their use in homes. Pictures and wall hangings are one of the numerous types of home accessories.

When you hang a picture, keep in mind the relation between size and importance of the picture and the space in which it is to hang. If only one small picture is available for a large area, use it on a large mat and/or use vines or wood carvings beside it.

Usually the center of interest of the picture should be at eye level of the average person standing, although some pictures are intended to be looked at while seated.

Pictures hung in groups should be close together, with the space between them narrower than the width of an individual picture, and they should be related in character, harmonious in color, and similarly framed. If a large and a small picture are used in a vertical arrangement, the small one is hung below. Avoid stairstep arrangements except along a stairway.

Few, if any, pictures should be hung against a patterned wallpaper. Light, warm tonal values are the best background for most pictures, and they must be adequately lighted both day and night.

Hang pictures flat against the wall, with all wires and hooks concealed.

This year is the first time that Appomattox High School has had a Spanish III Class. As a result, the number of students taking this class is very small—three to be exact! Since the class is so small it meets with the Spanish II group. The Spanish III students have no text books, but their teacher, Mr. James Hall, uses some books which he brought home from Mexico.

Futhermore this year we have not had for many years. There has been one meeting of the club at which time officers were elected. All of the officers came from the second and third year classes. All future meetings will be conducted entirely in Spanish and anyone who uses English will be fined. All the money collected in fines and dues will be used for a banquet at the end of the year.

Has anyone noticed a difference in the appearance of the cheerleaders lately? Each of the Appomattox High School cheerleaders is a new member of the National Cheerleaders Association and at the beginning of school they receive a small gold pin. A subscription to The Megaphone, the official publication of the National Cheerleaders Association is another of the benefits. This magazine contains new cheers and skits, plus many hints on spreading enthusiasm. Reading to get new pointers and then practicing every afternoon show that these girls are doing their best to cheer the Rebels on to victory!

Seventh-Day Adventist Church

Pastor William Carpenters subject for discussion Sabbath, Oct. 13, was "The Works of God". Setting was found in St. John 9:1-4 "and as Jesus was passing by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth, and his disciples asked him: who did sin this man or his parents that he was born blind?" Jesus answered, neither has this man sinned nor his parents but that the works of God should be made manifest."

The lead thought is found in verse 4 "I must work the works of him that sent me while it is day, the night cometh when no man can work." Pastor Carpenter pointed out that Jesus was an earnest, and constant worker. We find his footprints beside the sick bed, in the hovels of poverty, in the crowded cities and in every place where lonely hearts need sympathy.

In verses 5-7 Jesus declares himself to be the light of the world. He heals the blind man, and verse 38 says —"The blind man believed and worshiped Him".

The Pastor said —Sometimes we don't work and think as Jesus did—we place the emphasis upon work more than upon motive. We must have the motive of compulsion as Jesus did. "I must Work" we try to do too much in our own strength is why we often fail. Phil 2:12, 13, says "Work out your own salvation in fear and trembling. For it is God who worketh in you, both to will and do his good pleasure. "We should trust not in what we can do, but what God can do through us, and in so doing we will see The Works of God manifested among us.

Pastor Carpenter and family are now located at Clearview Farm, Alcoma, Va. Phone 924-40.

The regular church services will be continued each Sabbath. All visitors are Welcome.
